UCC ATHLETICS
 TRANSPORTATION OF STUDENT ATHLETES

Participants in athletic events where travel is required must use the mode of transportation provided by the College.

In exceptional circumstances, a participant may be permitted to use other means of transportation, at the sole discretion of the coach or another person in charge. In that event, the participant is solely and exclusively liable for any for any and all claims, demands, damages, or causes of action that may be made against the participant or any person, arising as a result of, or in connection with participant’s alternate means of transportation. It is clearly understood that if the participant uses alternate transportation neither the coach or the person in charge, nor the college is liable, obliged, or responsible for any acts or omission that may occur or arise, or any damages or injury that may result during or in connection with the participants use of alternative means of transportation. Participant hereby waves any such claims.

Participants in athletics events acknowledge receipt of rules of conduct promulgated by the college in the student handbook, as supplemented by the rules of conduct and behavior specific to the sport or activity in which they participate. Participants agree to comply with such rules and regulations, to comport themselves in a manner which reflects positively upon the college, and to refrain from acts or omissions that cast the team and the college in a bad light. The College will not be liable for any claim, demand, damages, or cause of action that may be made by the participant’s failure, neglect or refusal to conform to such rules and regulations. Participants hereby waive any such claims.

I understood and agree with the aforementioned statements.
