

To search LexisNexis Academic, you must be on campus.

To learn more about searching this database, click HELP.

The screenshot shows the LexisNexis Academic search interface. At the top left is the LexisNexis logo. To its right is a navigation menu with links: Home, Sources, How Do I?, Site Map, What's New, and Help. Below the logo is a sidebar titled "Academic Search Forms" with a list of categories: Quick Info, News (highlighted with a red arrow), Business, Legal Research, Medical, and Reference. The main content area is titled "Quick News Search" and "Guided News Search" (highlighted with a red arrow). It contains five steps: Step One: Select a news category -- Entry Required (with a dropdown menu "Select a News Category" and a red arrow); Step Two: Select a news source -- Entry Required (with a dropdown menu "All Available Documents" and a "Source List" link, and a red arrow); Step Three: Enter search terms -- Entry Required (with three search input fields, each with a dropdown menu "Headline, Lead Paragraph(s), Terms" and a red arrow); Step Four: Narrow to a specific date range -- Optional (with a radio button "Previous six months" and a dropdown menu, and a "From:" and "To:" date range input field); Step Five: Search this publication title(s) -- Optional (with a text input field). At the bottom right of the form are "Search" and "Clear Form" buttons. A "Tips" link is also visible.

Begin your search by clicking "Guided News Search."

Complete Steps 1-4 in order. Depending on the choices you make for Step 1, different search options will be available in Step 2.

Choose newspapers by region or subject area, or choose magazines or journals.

LexisNexis Academic can also be used for business, legal and medical searching.