UCC Can Celebrate a Successful Capital Campaign – the Largest of Any Community College in New Jersey

Turn this newsletter over and you'll note the motto of the Union County College Foundation – "We make dreams come true". For hundreds of students each year, the path to the dream of a higher education is created through a UCCF scholarship. However, for hundreds more, this dream has been out of reach.

On December 31, 2006, the Foundation and the College successfully concluded the largest capital campaign in the history of New Jersey community colleges. The Partnership for the Future Endowment and Capital Campaign, with a goal of $7,500,000, achieved gifts and pledges totaling over $8,000,000. Of this amount, over $5,000,000 will create a permanent endowment, the income from which will be awarded forever as scholarships.

Over the past two years, About Union has shared some of the highlights of the Campaign. With this report, we are thrilled to announce that, in gratitude for the lead gift of her family, the new Elizabeth campus building shall be named in memory of Elizabeth I.

Kellogg. The Kellogg family has, for many years, supported the students and programs of Union County College. Hundreds of donors joined with them to assure the success of this historic campaign.

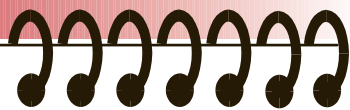

Thanks to all those who contributed to the Partnership for the Future Campaign, the Union County College Foundation will continue to keep its promise to "make dreams come true" for current and future generations of students. U

The planned Elizabeth I. Kellogg Building on the Elizabeth campus. Construction by Terminal Construction Company, Woodridge, New Jersey. The Campaign raised funds for equipment costs for this impressive building, which will more than double available space at the College's most rapidly growing campus.

Union County College and the
UCC Foundation
salute
Campaign Chair
Victor M. Richel
and all the volunteers and donors who made the
Partnership for the Future
Endowment &
Capital Campaign
a tremendous success.

THANK YOU!!

Did You Know?

... that Union County College is the sixth largest college in NJ?

... that the minimum gift or pledge to create an endowed scholarship fund with the UCC Foundation is $15,000? (At many universities the minimums are $50,000 or much more.)

... that the late Rebecca Lydon was honored by the College's Board of Trustees in 1981 with the title "First Lady of Union College"? At the time, President Dr. Kenneth MacKay said, "I don't think it would be an exaggeration to say that without her, the College wouldn't be here." A plaque dedicated to Mrs. Lydon hangs in MacDonald Hall, outside the Heim Conference Room.

THE PEACE GARDEN

HOLIDAY BOUTIQUE. The UCC Alumni Association's Second Annual Holiday Boutique on Saturday, December 2nd was a huge success. Fifty-nine vendors rented 70 tables packed with a wonderful assortment of products. This event raised over $3,500 for the Alumni Association Scholarship for Part-Time Students.

THEATER PROJECT IN STARLEDGER TOP 10. The Theater Project production of Thornton Wilder's The Skin of Our Teeth is one of the top ten events in the professional theater scene in New Jersey for 2006. Theater critic Peter Filichia commented that this is one of "the toughest plays to perform". Kudos to Artistic Director Mark Spina and his fine cast and crew!

NEW IBM PARTNERSHIP. UCC, through the Center for Economic and Workforce Development, is one of only 100 schools and nonprofits chosen by IBM to participate in a $2 million dollar grant program aimed to increase literacy skills through a new web-based technology, Reading Companion.

GARDEN STATE SOCCER CHAMPS. The Men's Soccer Team season record of 15-2-1 made them the Garden State Athletic Conference Championship Team. They lost the Region XIX Finals by one point.

HISPANIC HERITAGE MONTH. A "Latino Artists of Plainfield" exhibit graced the Plainfield campus in October. Co-sponsors were the Plainfield Cultural and Heritage Commission and the SGA.

NEW NAME FOR STUDENT RESOURCE CENTER. In October the Hispanic Support Center was rededicated and renamed the Center for Student Success / Centro de Excelencia Estudiantil. The Center's mission is to empower all students through education to ensure a successful career. Omayra Arocho is the Center Director.

Perhaps in your time at UCC you had occasion to enjoy or even be a part of helping to create a feature that makes Union County College unique – the Peace Garden that flowers in the courtyard between the Nomahegan classroom building, the Humanities Building and the MacKay Library and provides a green haven for students, faculty and staff.

It was created in 1981 by a small group of dedicated students (Winifred Quinn, Monica Shimkus and Alan Pucciariello) and Faculty Advisor English Professor Vicki Reback, who were trying to find a tangible way to make the world a little better. So they planted a small vegetable garden and read Carrots Love Tomatoes. Over the years as the number of caretakers grew, so the Garden also grew in size and beauty, till this day it fills the courtyard as a lovely flowering space with a gazebo and picnic benches, and even an outdoor classroom space for lovely days.

Over the years as student interests grew and the physical space expanded, the Garden became a Club and morphed into a Social Action and Environmental Awareness Organization with a growing physical home at its heart. Students could get their hands dirty and fill their minds with interesting projects at the same time.

It was a kind of intentional community within the College for many students who may remember working on bringing recycling to campus and having Earth Day Teach-Ins, and sponsoring poet Allen Ginsberg, folk singer Holly Near, environmental philosopher David Abram, and The Peace Weavers with their Native American Talking Stick Circles. They may remember pulling weeds and planting flowers and putting down walkways to define the space. The Garden sponsored a Tibetan Monk who spent a week constructing and deconstructing a sand mandala in the Commons as a Meditation on Life and Death, while in the Garden life began to bloom anew.

Such events brought the role of the Garden into the fuller life of the College as into the hearts of all who had the opportunity to participate in growing the Peace Site that it has been for many years with the Peace Pole in four languages planted at its center. In 1981 the late Lou Kousin, an adult UCC student, began the Peace Site Movement through what is now New Jersey Peace Action and helped to establish 734 sites across the country. UCC's Peace Garden Site was an early one in New Jersey.

When the Twin Towers fell, many found comfort being in the Garden amidst living things. And in all seasons, whether one is meeting friends or reading a book in the shade of a tree on one of the many benches, the Garden is one of few green spaces at the Cranford campus in which the natural world can be enjoyed. These days the Peace Garden is cared for in all seasons by former Volunteer Master Gardener Anna Ferrara. Many people make a trip to the Garden just to ask her advice or share in the beauty she has helped to nurture.

Now the Peace Garden needs some friends! Due to budgetary constraints, funding for the ongoing care of the Garden has run out. A committee is being formed to raise at least $60,000 for a Peace Garden Endowment Fund. John Bush '86, who helped to lay down the pathways with the Garden Club, will chair this fund raising effort.

Gifts may be charged on www.ucc-foundation.org. To become involved, please contact Ann Poskocil at (908) 709-7505 or uccfound@ucc.edu. # Alumni Profiles

Josephine M. (Tropeano) Varga '87

"Living With a Disability in a World That Has Little Patience for Imperfection"

Josie had a big self-esteem problem from being taunted and made to feel different all her life because of cerebral palsy and a severe bilateral hearing loss.

From the age of five she had wanted to be a writer. She got the push she needed at UCC in Professor Susan Stock's English class when her teacher praised her essay about teen suicide, read from it to the class, and recruited her on the spot to write for the Scroll. Later when she got notes from fellow students telling her how helpful her stories were, she was hooked. She says she will always be grateful to UCC for the encouragement and the good education she got here.

After UCC, she graduated in 1988

from Glassboro State College (now Rowan University) with a BA in Communications with a specialization in Journalism. After several discouraging experiences of losing out on jobs because of clear-cut discrimination, she joined the National Association of Fleet Administrators, beginning as assistant editor and ending as director of communications and editor.

She left there to become a communications consultant and writer. Josie's attitude is that it's important to try, to let go of negativity and not have to wonder in later life, "what if?". Her first book, a memoir of the lessons life has taught her, was published in 2004 – Footprints in the Sand. A Disabled Woman's

*Inspiring Journey to
She is seeking a literary agent for her five children's picture books and working on a second book, 101 Ways to Nourish Your Spirit. A true creative spirit, she has patents for two products and a copyright for a reality show treatment which she is promoting.

Life gave her many challenges, including a serious skin cancer and a high risk pregnancy, but also a happy home in Westfield with her husband John, a computer engineer with Bank of America, and her "miracles" - seven-year old Erica and five-year old Lia.

Winifred V. Quinn, Ph.D. '86

A self-confessed "terrible student in K-12", Winifred Quinn came to UCC and says she "just blossomed" and "learned how to love to learn". She especially credits Professor Vicki Reback's "Banned Books" class and the Garden Club for being important to her development. Before she graduated in 1982 she helped to plant what became the Peace Garden and to found the Garden Club. She's still involved as a member of the Peace Garden Endowment committee.

She took the spirit of community service and desire to make the world a better place from her Garden Club days at UCC to earn three more degrees and to thrive in a stellar career of public service. Her BS in Health and Physical Education with a Therapeutic Recreation option was earned at Douglass College, Rutgers in 1986, and followed by an MA in Counseling, Human Development and Educational Leadership from Monmouth State U. in 1997.

Then in May 2006 she marched at Rutgers U. again, for her Ph.D. in Health Communication. She used this occasion to start the Anne E. & James T. Quinn Memorial Scholarship Fund in memory of her parents, for students with an interest in gerontology.

Dr. Quinn's work life has had great variety from being a therapeutic recreation specialist, an expeditor in gourmet restaurants in San Francisco, a community educator on alcohol abuse, and a health and wellness educator. As a research assistant and research analyst at the Rutgers Center for State Health Policy she came to appreciate the role of public policy in helping people. She became Assistant State Director – Advocacy for AARP, New Jersey in 2005. She is proud of her work in convening AARP NJ's Summits on long-term care in 2005 and 2006, and in successfully lobbying for a "global budget" pilot project and for the passage of the "Independence, Dignity & Choice in Long-Term Care Act", which was signed by the Governor at the 2006 event.

Now New Jerseyans are fortunate to have this UCC alumna helping to protect the rights and dignity of the elderly in her new role as the Senior Policy Advisor in the Division of Elder Advocacy in the new Department of the Public Advocate in Trenton. This is a principal executive department of the state "dedicated to making government more accountable and more responsive to the needs of average New Jerseyans", to "provide a voice to the voiceless". Winifred Quinn has been passionate about wanting to make a difference in the world since her Garden Club days at UCC and she is living up to her promise beautifully.

Gift Planning at the Union County College Foundation

Support UCC Students with a Gift That Gives Back – A Charitable Gift Annuity

Planned Giving Calculation

If you are 70 years old, a Gift Annuity of $10,000 will give you a charitable tax deduction of $4,276 and an annual 6.5% pay-out of $650 for life. $360 of the annuity is tax-free for 15.9 years.

Benefits vary based on the age(s) of the annuitant (one or two) and the timing and form (cash or securities) of the gift.

Use the Gift Calculator at www.uccfoundation.org and see how you can help the UCC Foundation and receive guaranteed lifetime payments. You can see the income and tax benefits of a Charitable Gift Annuity or other life income gifts.

For a personalized illustration, please contact Ann Poskocil, CFRE, Director of Development, at 908/709-7028 or poskocil@ucc.edu.

Order Estate Planning Books via UCCF Web Site

Please visit www.uccfoundation.org and click on the link to Barron Publishing Co.'s secure site. There you can view the table of contents of the award-winning books in the Estate Planning Success® Series, including Estate Planning Success for New Jersey Residents and How to Pay Zero Estate Tax. Estate and charitable planning topics are explained in language the average person can understand. You can learn more about how to protect your financial future, preserve your estate for your family, and create your charitable legacy. And, the UCC Foundation will receive a portion of all purchases made through our site.

A Bequest of a Scholarship Is A Wonderful Way To Be Remembered

Although those donors who established their scholarship funds through a bequest cannot attend the UCC Foundation's annual Scholarship Receptions, they are there in spirit. The scholarship that their thoughtful generosity created is listed in the programs and the student recipients are called up to be recognized with a certificate.

For instance, the Dorothy Gasorek Memorial Scholarship was founded by a 1944 alumna from Elizabeth who loved this college and was active all her adult life with the UCC Alumni Association. Miss Caroline Small of Maplewood, a friend of the college who valued higher education, left a generous bequest for a scholarship in memory of herself and her brothers. Two former college administrators have bequests in their wills that will create scholarships in memory of their parents. There are many variations on the theme of creating legacies that will benefit deserving students far into the future.

Please contact Ann Poskocil, CFRE (908/709-7028) to discuss establishing an endowed scholarship fund or other legacy through a will or estate plan. There is a downloadable Testamentary Scholarship Form on the website – www.uccfoundation.org. Those who notify the Foundation of a bequest or trust become honored members in perpetuity of the Heritage Society.
